Double Jeopardy Curriculum Manual

What is Double Jeopardy?

The Double Jeopardy project was funded by two grants that the U.S. Administration on Developmental Disabilities awarded to the Ohio Department of Aging in 1999 and 2001. The purpose of Ohio's project was to support family members in planning for a secure future for their sons and daughters or other loved ones who have mental retardation and developmental disabilities. The Ohio Department of Aging collaborated with the Ohio Department of Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities and the Ohio Developmental Disabilities Council on the project. A major project focus was the development of the curriculum and conducting the training.

What does the curriculum cover?

The curriculum includes sections on four content areas, each designed for a two-hour session, plus a section on how to use the curriculum. The content is appropriate for family members, agency staff and other professionals. The curriculum includes the basic information on life planning and cross-system collaboration necessary to start addressing future planning. The trainer can supplement the curriculum with other materials.

The sections* include:

- Introduction, "Aging and Disabilities."
- Section 1, "Two Systems, Two Resources: Together Serving Families."
- Section 2, "Life Planning 101: Life Planning Basics."
- Section 3, "Life Planning 102: Estate and Future Planning for Ohioans with Disabilities and Their Families."

The curriculum was created in Microsoft PowerPoint Version 97-SR2 for ease in training and revising. The trainer can modify the curriculum to reflect the situation in states other than Ohio.

What's in the Manual?

The Manual is in a 3-inch loose-leaf binder containing:

- Printouts of the curriculum sections with notes pages
- Handouts for note taking
- Handouts for each curriculum section, including planning tools
- Appendix with supplemental information related to future planning
- Bibliography
- Sample certificates of attendance
- Pre- and post-tests (for trainers only)
- Sample public relations materials
- CD-ROM that contains the PowerPoint files and other documents that the project created

The curriculum *sections can be viewed on the Ohio Department of Aging's web site:
